

Where can I learn more about the candidates and issues on the ballot?

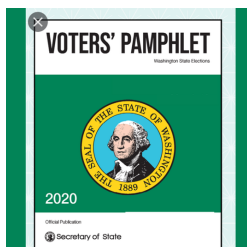

Non-partisan, personalized voting information you need

VOTE411.org has a lot of personalized voting information including the VOTE411 online voter guide. You can learn where candidates stand on issues by comparing side-by-side answers to questions. The answers come directly from the candidates and are unedited by the League of Women Voters.

The League of Women Voters encourages informed and active participation in government by sponsoring candidate forums. Candidates are asked questions by League members and the public. Candidates are given equal amounts of time to respond. Events are recorded. For more information go to lwvwa.org and your local League.

The League does not support or oppose any candidates or parties.

The Secretary of State is responsible for publishing the state voters' guide, which is mailed to all the voters in the state before each election. It contains statements from candidates and information about other issues people vote on.

Remember, you don't have to vote on everything on the ballot.
