Democracy in Action Across Washington State | News from the League of Women Voters of WA

- April showers bring... ballots? The next election is April 25. Not all districts will have items on the ballot, so go to VoteWA.gov and find out if you should keep an eye out for a ballot!
- Do you need answers about the League, elections, or state government? Submit your questions and we may feature it in a future post on Facebook or Instagram!

4.23 SUN | WA's Legislative Session Scheduled to Adjourn

This year was the first in the legislature's biennium cycle, meaning it was the "long" session. The long session lasts for 105 days; this year it began on January 9 and will end on April 23. Catch-up with the legislative action by viewing or subscribing to our Legislative Newsletter.

4.25 TUES | Special Election Day

Make sure you mark your calendars—and remember not all districts have ballot items this election, visit VoteWA.gov to see if yours has items to vote on.

The LWVWA Continues the Fight for Reproductive Freedom

The League of Women Voters has supported the rights of individuals to make their own reproductive choices for over forty years. Lunell Haught, LWVWA President, joined Planned Parenthood of Greater Washington and North Idaho, and the Washington Attorney General's office on March 28, 2023 at the Thomas S. Foley Federal Courthouse to argue on behalf of a multistate federal lawsuit (view PDF) against the Food & Drug Administration (FDA) accusing it of singling out one of the two drugs used for medication abortions for excessively burdensome regulation, despite ample evidence that the drug is safer than Tylenol. The FDA's restrictions on mifepristone create unnecessary risk for Washington state medical providers, patients and people who travel to the state to receive abortion care.

The LWVWA Adopts Two New Positions

The League of Women Voters of Washington Board of Directors adopted two new positions on April 10, 2023, after League members throughout the state spent over two years researching, publishing studies, and reaching consensus. The two positions are the Local News (view PDF) and Shoreline Management (view PDF) positions.
